Processing Plants in Alberta
Provincially Inspected

Producers who sell lambs, usually called freezer lambs, directly to consumers usually make arrangements for the lambs to be processed, cut and wrapped.

Lambs sold privately to consumers must be processed in provincially inspected plants. It is illegal to sell meat processed on farm or to allow buyers to process the animals on your property.

A regularly updated list of provincially inspected processing plants in Alberta can be found at: <http://www.agric.gov.ab.ca/food/process/fdprcdir/index>

Please investigate lamb processing schedule and costs early with your chosen facility.
